

Guidelines for Submission to MedGG

General Requirements

Articles should be submitted as printout as well as on a DOS-compatible floppy disc. Please avoid formatting, e.g. hyphenation.

Manuscripts should not exceed 35 typed pages (30 lines, 60 characters per line).

Articles should be written in a generally understandable style. (The New German orthography is not used in MedGG).

Please mark all quotations in your text. Insertions and omissions should be marked by squared brackets.

At the end of the article, the author is asked to provide a Summary, which should not exceed 15 typed lines.

Footnotes and annotations

Number footnotes in order, corresponding to the numbers in the text. The style follows the Duden guidelines.

If a full sentence is quoted, footnote numbers should follow the closing punctuation. If the footnote refers to the preceding word, it should directly follow it.

Annotations which give credit to literature or any other material used refer to the attached bibliography:

¹Pimelli/Mancini (1997), p. 150-152.

For multiple works which have the same author(s) and publication date please add the first noun of the title:

²Vasold: Pest (1991), p. 40-42.

Bibliography

The bibliography should be attached to the end of the article. Please refer only to the sources already mentioned in the annotations. Please include the full names of all authors or editors if possible and list them in alphabetical order:
